

“What About Me?”

“What About Me?” or W.A.M. is a voluntary class for children between the ages of 5 – 12 addressing various issues children face when their parents are going through a divorce.

Many parents who have attended the mandatory “Seminar for Divorcing Parents” program have decided to enroll their children in this companion class so that they too may benefit from this type of educational experience. W.A.M. is sponsored by the Cobb Superior Court and is led by the same presenters from Families First who teach the parent’s seminar. Children are divided into two age groups: 5-8 year olds & 9-12 year olds to participate in various age appropriate activities to encourage communication about what they are facing during this time of change.

- ❖ W.A.M. is a one time class, typically held on the 4th Monday of every other month from 6:15 p.m. – 8:15 p.m., in the ADR Office on the 3rd floor of Superior Court South.
- ❖ All children must be pre-registered.
- ❖ Permission is required from both parents if a Court action is still pending. If the Court action is finalized, only the primary custodial parent’s permission is necessary.
- ❖ One parent must remain on the premises during the seminar.
- ❖ The cost of the class is only $10.00 with additional children from the same family at only $5.00 more per child.

The registration fee must be pre-paid by cash, check or credit card to reserve a place in an upcoming class. This fee is non-refundable, but may be transferred to another class date.
